CLAIM TO AN ISLAND

Americans and Japan Involved in the Controversy.

AFTER POSSESSION

Captain Rosehill Says He Owns Marcus Island and It Is Reported a Japanese Warship Has Gone to Take Possession of It.

Honolulu, Aug. 2. via San Francisco, Aug. 9.—According to the Honolulu men who are interested in the Marcus Island guano expedition, against which Japan has sent a war vessel, as reported by the last advices received from there, states that the vessel which left here for the island carried a complement of Mauser rifles and her captain had instructions from the company to the plant the American flag on the island and keep it floating until compelled to haul it down.

Capt. Rosehill, the discoverer of the island, who left his claim to it on a coconut tree on Marcus Island in 1889, is in command of the expedition. The company's claim is based on this title, which is on record in the state department in Washington.

No intimation that the vessel left here with arms on board was given out until the news was received that the Japanese government had laid claim to the island and had dispatched a war vessel there. Col. Thomas Fitch then made public the instructions given to Capt. Rosehill, which, while designed to prevent any conflict, were intended to compel the Japanese to allow the Americans to land or use force to drive them away.

Capt. Rosehill's instructions from the company are to inform the Japanese on Marcus Island that his expedition is a peaceful one for the purpose of making a scientific investigation of the value of the guano deposit of the island and attempt to make a peaceful landing. In the event that the Japanese still refuse to allow him to land, Rosehill is to sail away out of sight of the island and return under cover of darkness, land an armed force and raise the American flag and keep it up until it is torn down by a superior force. At the same time the captain was told to avoid a conflict in every way possible.

In the event of his encountering a Japanese war vessel, the commander of the expedition was to present his credentials as the discoverer of the island and the agent of the Marcus Island Guano company and to state that the subject of his expedition was to make a scientific examination of the island for the company. If the island was found to be of value the matter of ownership was to be referred to the United States and Japanese governments.

If the officers of the war vessel still refused to allow a landing, Capt. Rosehill was instructed to start ashore with an unarmed force in a boat, flying the American flag, and attempt a landing to carry out the purposes of the expedition, unless physically restrained.

A Washery Burned.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 9.—The Capouse washery of the Scranton Coal company was destroyed Friday by a fire of unexplainable origin. The flames were discovered a few minutes after the force of men returned from dinner. The company officials allege that the place was set afire during the noon hour when the workmen were away at dinner and when only one man was about the plant. The washery was built two years ago and is the largest in this region.

Mistreated by Neighbors.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 9.—A platoon of the Governor's troop of cavalry went to Turkey Run hill Friday and rescued a small family from the violence of neighbors. The father and husband took the place of a striker and the family was harassed for his action. The man remained in the mine night and day, being afraid to return home.

Two Mysterious Murders.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The body of a young woman found Thursday night in the vacant lot at the corner of Seventy-fourth and State streets has been identified as that of Miss Minnie Mitchell of 604 Forty-fourth street, in this city, and the police are looking for William Bartholin, a young mechanic (who was with her at the time of her disappearance). The case is shrouded in mystery, but the police are firmly of the opinion that the girl was murdered by Bartholin and that he also murdered his own mother, Mrs. Anna Bartholin, who mysteriously disappeared three weeks before the Mitchell girl went away with the young man.

Two Killings in Choctaw Nation.

Paris, Tex., Aug. 9.—A killing occurred at Garvin, I. T., Wednesday during the Choctaw election. The name of the victim, who was a half-breed, was not learned. The day before the election a young Choctaw named Wheeler 18 years old was found dead near Kullytuklo with two bullet holes in him. The killing is supposed to have grown out of the campaign.

Negro Shot from Ambush.

Hearne, Tex., Aug. 9.—While A. C. Langster, a negro employed on the West Brook plantation near town, was going from his home to a neighbor's he was fired on from ambush, receiving the contents of a double-barrel shotgun loaded with birdshot. The wound is not thought to be serious.

CHOCTAW ELECTION.

Returns Coming in Indicate That McCurtain Will Succeed Himself.

South McAlester, I. T., Aug. 9.—Returns from Red River, Cedar, Boktoko, Sugarloaf and Sans Bois counties radically altered the apparent result of the Choctaw election. The McCurtain forces are jubilant, and claim his election by 253 majority.

Red River county reports a McCurtain majority of 186, Cedar county 75, Sugarloaf 132, Boktoko 73 and Sans Bois 242. Wolf, Eagle and Jackford counties have not been heard from, and they have no telegraph communications, but their total vote if given to Hunter would not wipe out McCurtain's majority according to his partisans' figures.

T. H. Hunter, the rival candidate, has returned to his home in Caddo, but his associate on the Choctaw townsie commission received a message from him, in which he claimed his election by 135 majority.

FRIAR LAND SALES.

Nothing Known at Manila Beyond Some Transfers in Luzon.

Manila, Aug. 9.—Nothing is known here of the reported sale of the lands of the friars to an American syndicate and the statement that such a sale has been made is officially discredited.

The Dominicans transferred much of their estates in the island of Luzon to the Philippines Sugar and Development company in which certain Americans are interested, in January, 1901. The government has questioned the legality of this transfer and the matter is now pending before the courts. Some property belonging to other religious orders here is nominally outside of the control of the church and judicial action will probably be necessary before the government purchases the friar lands. That there have been recent transfers of friar property is doubted. The status of the holdings of the friars is not believed to have changed since Gov. Taft left the Philippines for Washington last December.

ROBERTS AND WHEELER.

They Were Center of Attraction at New Anglo-American Pilgrim's Club.

London, Aug. 9.—Earl Roberts, commander-in-chief of the British forces, and General Joseph Wheeler of the United States, sat together Friday night at the first banquet of the new Anglo-American Pilgrim's club, which was given at the Carlton hotel. Lord Kinnaid presided at the banquet, and the guests included Joseph M. Choate, United States ambassador; Lord Kelvin, Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, H. Clay Evans, consul general of the United States; former Attorney General Griggs, General J. H. Wilson, United States army, and Josiah Quincy.

After toasts had been drunk to King Edward and President Roosevelt, General Wheeler, in an eulogistic speech, proposed Earl Roberts as honorary president of the club. Earl Roberts, replying to the American general, said he hoped some day his responsibilities, which appeared to increase with the advance of years, would permit him to visit the United States, which country of all others he most desired to see.

Killed His Father's Mower.

Nacogdoches, Tex., Aug. 9.—Fourteen years ago a negro named George Burk killed a white man named Tom Murphy, a son-in-law of Col. A. P. Orton, a distinguished San Jacinto veteran. This was in San Augustine county, where the parties all resided. The negro was tried and acquitted by a white jury and at once moved here and has lived here ever since. Thursday evening young Sandy Murphy, son of the man killed, now 23 years old, was in town and for the first time since his father's death saw the negro, George Burk, who was in a store trading near the postoffice. The negro spoke the words, "Don't shoot me any more," then fell over and died in a few minutes. Murphy surrendered and gave bond.

Cotton Killed by Flood.

Terrell, Tex., Aug. 9.—Reports received in this city from the Sabine river bottom, in the northern portion of this county, state that all the cotton that was overflooded has died, and there is now emanating from the overflooded districts a terrible stench caused by the dead cotton plant and the decaying carcasses of many animals that were drowned by the flood. At Hetty, a small station on the Texas Midland railroad ten miles north of here, there is 800 acres of cotton, known as the D. B. Wilson farm, which has been

Prohibition Injunction Case.

Hillsboro, Tex., Aug. 9.—The motion to dissolve the Hill county local option injunction will be heard at Cleburne by Judge Poindexter on Aug. 16. County Attorney Greenwood, in speaking of it said: "The county will rely on defeating it, because if there were any irregularities in the election the plaintiffs had their legal remedy under the statutes and therefore have no right to prosecute the suit by injunction proceedings."

SUNDAY, AUGUST 10, 1902

A Navasota special says Congressman Ball addressed a large audience there Friday upon the proposition to levee the Brazos. He said little help could be expected from the national government further than to make the river navigable. He suggested a conference of interested parties in an effort to secure aid from the state. A committee was appointed to confer with interested parties in the overflowed district, particularly, by mail. This leaves the matter up to the planters and business men along the river, and the Eagle believes they are in a humor to do something.

Some earthquake shocks have recently visited the Pacific coast. Los Animas, California, is in ruins and St. Louis Obispo has had a terrible shaking up. In some places gaping, and seeming bottomless fissures have appeared and hills several hundred feet high where there were no hills before. The people are crazy with terror and many have fled from their homes and are dwelling in the distant solitudes. At one place seventy distinct shocks occurred in one day, and all over Santa Barbara county the destruction has been severe.—Farm and Ranch.

Don't it make you weary to hear a gang sitting around discussing a town and making dire predictions for its future? A town is what its people make of it. If they sit around idle and say it's dead, it's going to be that way, but if they talk good times and go out and get to work it's a live town. Did it ever occur to you?—Huntsville Post.

The Huntsville Post, J. A. Palmer's paper, comes to hand this week with thirty six columns—six pages—of well written, attractive advertisements by the Huntsville merchants advertising Huntsville's advantages as a trading point.

COL. PETERS FAVORS BRYAN

As a Meeting Place to Consider Plans to Levee The Brazos.

Col. E. S. Peters, of Calvert, president of the Texas Cotton Growers' association, was in the city yesterday and expressed strong interest in the movement to levee the Brazos river to prevent flood damage. Col. Peters said a meeting of interested parties should be held without delay and he would like to see it called to meet in Bryan because this city is centrally located and accessible from all points. People would come for a hundred miles or more up and down the river and a great deal of good could be accomplished. Bryan would like to have the meeting, and we hope the business league will go to work on Col. Peters' suggestion and secure it.

Speaking About Advertising.

The writer heard a business man complain many times about people in his own town taking their money to a city many miles away and purchasing goods. His complaint was just, but he was somewhat at fault himself. The big city papers circulated in his town and were full of attractive page ads showing off goods of the same kind he sold and quoting prices. The prices, when actually compared with those of the home merchant, for same quality of goods, offered no advantage, but the city merchant advertised and the home merchant did not, although he had a good home paper, and the conclusion drawn by many people was that the city man who made such a stir about his goods and prices, had something unusually attractive to offer and they went to see, and while there they bought.

EDWARD IS CROWNED

The Ceremony of Placing the Crown Upon His Head.

GREAT CROWD THERE

The King Stood the Ceremony Well Despite His Recent Illness—Aged Archbishop Collapsed During the Long Ceremony.

London, Aug. 9.—A brilliant sunrise promised perfect weather for coronation day, but long before the ceremonies commenced threatening clouds gathered, and early arrivals on the route of the procession came provided against contingencies.

Though earlier crowds were no wise as large as had been generally anticipated, many enthusiasts with camp stools and ample supplies of provender had spent the night on the best coigns of vantage that could be secured and were in the same positions at 6 o'clock this morning. At that hour troops began to take up their allotted stations, and policemen lined the route of the procession from Buckingham palace to Westminster abbey. Up to 7 o'clock there were certainly more police than sightseers visible, but after that time there was a rapid increase in the number of spectators, suburban trains and tramcars empty.

ing thousands of people every few minutes into the stations adjacent to the procession's route.

East End London residents also flocked westward in such numbers that the streets east of Temple Bar became oppressively silent and deserted.

Most of the best positions along the route of the procession were thickly crowded by 8 o'clock, and spectators were furnished with plenty of diversion by the marching and counter-marching of troops, headed by bands and quickly passing state coaches, private carriages and automobiles.

Buckingham palace naturally was one of the principal centers of interest, as it was the starting point of the great pageant. Crowds assembled there in immense numbers, and the first hearty cheer of the day went up when the news was circulated that King Edward was in the best of health and well equipped to undergo the fatigue of the day.

By 9:30 the scene in the vicinity of the palace and Mall was extremely animated. The roof of the palace and those of all surrounding buildings were crowded with spectators, and constantly arriving members of the royal family with their suites and the appearance of other participants in the procession enlisted cheers varying in degree of enthusiasm according to the popularity of the personages recognized by the people.

Almost as animated was the scene in the vicinity of Westminster Abbey where bands of music stationed about the building relieved the tedium of early waiting, and soon after the doors were opened state coaches, carriages and automobiles rattled up in ceaseless line, the rich apparel of the occupants eliciting hearty approval, which however, was surpassed by the reception accorded to the men of the naval brigade as they marched past at a swinging pace to take up that favored position of guarding the route near the abbey.

Colonial premiers and privy councillors were warmly welcomed. Fijians in petticoats were the center of much interest, and the red Indian chief, in his native costume, feathers and blanket, decorated with the customary mirrors, caused most lively amusement.

CRUELTY TO SAILORS.

They Are Made to Eat Flesh of a Cow Dying from Disease.

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 9.—Deputy Sheriff Walker of Port Tampa came up to the city, having in charge fourteen sailors from the crew of the Spanish tramp steamer Urgulla. The ship is from an European port and the men came up to the city for the purpose of entering a complaint with the Spanish consul regarding the treatment they had received at the hands of the captain and other officers of the ship during the voyage.

They accuse the officers of the ship with inhuman treatment, claiming that some of them had been compelled to work forty-eight hours without anything to eat. They also stated that during the voyage one of the cows on the ship died, and that the animal had been dressed and given them to eat, and from eating the flesh of the animal several of their number had been made violently ill.

GENERAL MEYER DEAD.

The Boer General Dies Suddenly from His Ailment at Brussels.

Brussels, Aug. 9.—The Petit Bleu announces the sudden death of General
Lucas Meyer of heart disease. General Meyer was attacked several times with this illness during the war in South Africa.

General Meyer was commander of the Orange Free State forces in the Boer war. After the conclusion of peace he left South Africa for London, where he was entertained in British official circles. General Meyer, accompanied by his wife, left London a few days ago for Dresden. This step was taken upon the advice of his physicians. On his way to Germany he stopped in Holland to see former President Kruger of the Transvaal.

Poisoned by the Water.

Waco, Tex., Aug. 9.—The recent fresher in the Brazos river heaped a mass of driftwood and brush against the piers of the Cotton Belt bridge, which gave much trouble in removing.
Dave Luze, one of the workmen employed in the task, fell into the river, which near the pier is ten feet deep.
Before he was dragged out by his brother workmen he swallowed a cop-ious quantity of the deep-red water, which is thick with salt and heavily charged with soluble mineral substances, the result being that he is very ill. The case is a peculiar one.
Mr. Luze has been sent to Tyler to be treated in the Cotton Belt hospital.

Would Force the Whites.

Atlanta, Aug. 9.—At the negro congress Friday B. Y. Jones of New Orleans declared that the time had come when it was not for the white man to decide the policy of this country, but for the negro. "If the white man won't help us, who will make him?
It is no longer for the white man to say. It is for the negro to say, and say he will. If the white man does not extend to us the helping hand we will force him to it." Jones also declared in bitter terms that the negro in the south was not given a fair chance, and that he must make for himself his position among the people.

Funston Ill Again.

Denver, Aug. 9.—Brigadier General Frederick Funston, commander of the department of the Colorado, is confined to his home by illness, having undergone an operation for fistula. His condition is not at all alarming, and his friends expect he will recover quickly.
The general's present illness does not result from the attack of appendicitis for which an operation was successfully performed at Kansas City before he came to Colorado.

Six Inches of Rain.

Channing, Tex., Aug. 9.—This place was visited by one of the heaviest rains ever seen in the Panhandle country. It was about a six-inch fall. Two washouts were reported Friday on the Fort Worth and Denver road along the Canadian river.

GRECIAN LEGEND

When the Greeks undertook the Trojan war, Ulysses, one of the most renowned of the Greek heroes, the king of Ithica (one of the small Ionian islands) and the husband of the exemplary PENELOPE, after long declining to join the alliance, at last consented, and embarking his small, but picked band, set sail for the Phrygian shores. During the war he acted a prominent part, and after the fall of the city of Troy, he embarked on board his small fleet with his followers to return to his wife and kingdom. But adverse winds and fearful storms made him the sport of winds and waves, and his efforts were fruitless for a long period. After an absence, however, of thirty years, he regained his island home, found his faithful, still beautiful

PENELOPE

This name has been given a townsite in Hill County, 25 miles north of Waco, on the Fort Worth Division of the International & Great Northern Railroad, in the famous black land country on the rolling prairie, and as CON-STANCY was the charm of its namesake, there is little speculation that the growth of the new I. & G. N. town will be constant and that it will soon become a beautiful little city.

By the SMITH LAND & IMPROVEMENT COMPANY.

Everybody knows that when a new railroad station is opened in the Black Land Belt it means a Town and a GOOD ONE, especially if it is an International & Great Northern town. The new I. & G. N. town of Mart, on the Fort Worth Division, having grown from a store, farm house and cotton gin to a bustling town of 150 inhabitants within a year, is a case in point.

LERROY, 15 miles north of Waco, in McLennan County, the new I. & G. N. station which was opened July 21, is being settled rapidly. There was a very large sale of town lots made there on the opening day and they continue to go.

PENELOPE, 25 miles north of Waco, 10 miles north of Leroy, 3 1/2 miles from Mt. OCTOBER 14, 15, 16 & 17.

For Catalogue, Address, PAUL BRADLEY, Sect'y.

As the hour appointed for the departure of the royal procession approached, the excitement about Buckingham palace was most marked. Punctual to the time the advance guard of the royal cavalcade issued from the archway, horses of troopers curvetting nervously as they faced the wall of humanity that cheered their coming; shortly afterwards came the prince and princess of Wales' procession, and finally, within a few minutes, their majesties' state coach appeared at the gateway and the king and queen smiled and bowed in response to the mighty roar of cheers that dwarfed all previous welcomes.

The scene in the vicinity was remarkable. On the roof of the palace were perched a number of fashionably dressed ladies, members of the household, and cheers, with fluttering of handkerchiefs, as the king and queen entered the royal coach, gave the signal for deafening plaudits of the populace which greeted their majesties as they emerged from the gates.

The ovation was taken up by the crowds which thronged the Mall, and was repeatedly acknowledged by the occupants of the state coach. The king looked pale and rather fine drawn, and was by no means as brown and robust as previous reports had led one to expect, and while bowing from side to side he did so with gravity very unusual to him.

He seemed to sit rather far back in the carriage and moved his body very little. His curious crimson robes and cap of maintenance, which was simply a band of ermine with crimson velvet top, gave him an unusual appearance. The queen beside him was radiant. She never looked better. The cheers which greeted the pair were loud and unmistakably genuine, and very different from the perfunctory applause which usually greets the appearance of members of the royal family.

The three processions to the abbey were carried out according to program, and the only striking features of the first two were the gorgeous state carriages and beautiful trappings and horses.

The procession was a continued triumph, and reached the climax on arrival at the abbey, where there was a scene of unparalleled enthusiasm which did not cease until their majesties disappeared in the annex.

In Westminster Abbey the doors of the edifice scarcely opened and gold sticks and ushers had barely found their stations before the seats began to fill. Peers and peeresses swept up. Nave, their scarlet and ermine making a vivid contrast with the deep blue of the carpet.

As they arrived before the thrones they separated, the peers going to the right and the peeresses to the left. Even when practically empty the abbey presented an interesting, picturesque effect, the oddest feature of which consisted in every seat being practically covered by a large white official program, in the interior of which was placed a small, deep red book of the service.

By 10 o'clock the interior of the abbey presented a blaze of color. Along the Nave, which was lined by grenadiers, every chair was taken up by high officers of the army and navy and in equally handsome equipment. In stalls with the other ambassadors were United States Ambassador Joseph H. Choate and Mrs. Choate and many officials.

The ceremonies commenced with the reconsecration of the regalia. The procession of the clergy with regalia then proceeded from the altar to the annex, all present standing up and the choir singing "O, God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Proceeding the regalia came the boys of Westminster abbey, followed by the children of the Chapel Royal and the choir in royal uniforms.

The duke of Connaught took a place beside the Prince of Wales in the abbey, as the procession entered, bowing as he passed the prince. Archbishop of Canterbury took a seat in front of the coronation chair and the earl of Halsbury, lord high chancellor, seated himself by his side.

Suddenly "Vivat Alexandra" was shouted by the boys of Westminster abbey, and the queen, walking slowly to the left of the throne, gained her chair.

Two or three minutes later a hoarse cry from the Westminster boys of "Vivat Rex Edward," with blasts from trumpets, and King Edward appeared and walked to his chair in front of the throne, bowing to the queen as he passed, and knelt in prayer. After removing the somewhat unbecoming cap, his majesty stood up and archbishop of Canterbury, in a trembling voice, read the recognition, beginning:

"Sirs, I here present unto you, King Edward, undoubted king of this realm." Then there was a hoarse shout and blending of the choir and the people, women and men, in a cry: "God Save King Edward." Several times this was repeated and the abbey rang with loud fanfares.

Again the king and queen knelt and the archbishop of Canterbury walked to the altar and commenced communion. The administration of the oath followed.

Standing before the king's chair, the archbishop remarked, "Sir, is your majesty willing to take the oath?" The king answered in a firm, strong tone: "I am willing." Then the inkstand was brought and the king signed the oath. He did not advance to the altar, but sat in the chair he had occupied since the service began.

While the choir sang "Come, Holy Ghost, Our Souls Inspire," the king remained seated and the queen stood up. After the archbishop's anointing prayer, the gold canopy was brought over the king's chair and his majesty divested himself of his outer robe and then walked to the ancient chair while the choir sang "Seadoak's" anthem.

The anointing ceremony was scarcely seen owing to the canopy. After the prayer the king donned the colobium, sidonis, then resumed his seat and the archbishop of Canterbury read the prayers and delivered the sword to the king.

When the king held out his hand for the ring the archbishop of Canterbury had difficulty in finding it, but finally, with trembling hands, he placed it on the tip of his majesty's finger, reading the prayer simultaneously, the king himself completing the process of putting on the ring as he withdrew his hand.

Later the archbishop had a similar difficulty owing to the near-sightedness in placing the crown on the king's head. In fact, the choir started "God Save the King" while the archbishop was still striving to place the crown on the king's head, and a great shout went up, and electric lights were turned on.

As the acclamations died away the clanging of joy bells, noise of guns and shouting of the people outside penetrated into the abbey where the king still sat motionless, the dazzling crown on his head and the scepter held firmly in his hand. After singing "Be Strong and Play the Man," and the Bible having been presented, the king advanced and knelt while he received the benediction.

He then walked to the great throne, where he stood on the dias for the first time, surrounded by nobles. Having placed the king on the new throne, the archbishop knelt and paid homage, the aged prelate scarcely being able to rise until the king assisted him and himself raised the archbishop's hands from the steps of the throne. The archbishop, who seemed to be in a faint, had practically to be carried to the altar. The incident created considerable excitement and several prelates rushed forward to help the prelate.

The next person to pay homage to his majesty was the prince of Wales who knelt until King Edward held out his hands, which he kissed after touching the crown as a sign of fealty.

The prince of Wales then started to return to his seat, when King Edward drew him back and put his arms around him and kissed him. After this the king once more gave the prince his hand, this time to shake, and the hearty vigor of King Edward's grasp showed his hand at any rate had not lost its strength.

All the nobles then took the oath of allegiance, and the queen was crowned by the archbishop of York.

The king and queen then walked to the altar and received communion. The services concluded with singing the "Te Deum." Their majesties then left the abbey and returned to the palace amid the plaudits of the multitude.

It is announced the king bore the strain without harmful effect.

CLAIM TO AN ISLAND

Americans and Japan Involved in the Controversy.

AFTER POSSESSION

Captain Rosehill Says He Owns Marcus Island and It Is Reported a Japanese Warship Has Gone to Take Possession of It.

Honolulu, Aug. 2. via San Francisco, Aug. 9.—According to the Honolulu men who are interested in the Marcus Island guano expedition, against which Japan has sent a war vessel, as reported by the last advice received from there, states that the vessel which left here for the island carried a complement of Mauser rifles and her captain had instructions from the company to the plant the American flag on the island and keep it floating until compelled to haul it down.

Capt. Rosehill, the discoverer of the island, who left his claim to it on a coconut tree on Marcus Island in 1889, is in command of the expedition. The company's claim is based on this title, which is on record in the state department in Washington.

No intimation that the vessel left here with arms on board was given out until the news was received that the Japanese government had laid claim to the island and had dispatched a war vessel there. Col. Thomas Fitch then made public the instructions given to Capt. Rosehill, which, while designed to prevent any conflict, were intended to compel the Japanese to allow the Americans to land or use force to drive them away.

Capt. Rosehill's instructions from the company are to inform the Japanese on Marcus Island that his expedition is a peaceful one for the purpose of making a scientific investigation of the value of the guano deposit of the island and attempt to make a peaceful landing. In the event that the Japanese still refuse to allow him to land, Rosehill is to sail away out of sight of the island and return under cover of darkness, land an armed force and raise the American flag and keep it up until it is torn down by a superior force. At the same time the captain was told to avoid a conflict in every way possible.

In the event of his encountering a Japanese war vessel, the commander of the expedition was to present his credentials as the discoverer of the island and the agent of the Marcus Island Guano company and to state that the subject of his expedition was to make a scientific examination of the island for the company. If the island was found to be of value the matter of ownership was to be referred to the United States and Japanese governments.

If the officers of the war vessel still refused to allow a landing, Capt. Rosehill was instructed to start ashore with an unarmed force in a boat, flying the American flag, and attempt a landing to carry out the purposes of the expedition, unless physically restrained.

A Washery Burned.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 9.—The Capouse washery of the Scranton Coal company was destroyed Friday by a fire of unexplainable origin. The flames were discovered a few minutes after the force of men returned from dinner. The company officials allege that the place was set afire during the noon hour when the workmen were away at dinner and when only one man was about the plant. The washery was built two years ago and is the largest in this region.

Mistreated by Neighbors.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 9.—A platoon of the Governor's troop of cavalry went to Turkey Run hill Friday and rescued a small family from the violence of neighbors. The father and husband took the place of a striker and the family was harassed for his action. The man remained in the mine night and day, being afraid to return home.

Two Mysterious Murders.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The body of a young woman found Thursday night in the vacant lot at the corner of Seventy-fourth and State streets has been identified as that of Miss Minnie Mitchell of 604 Forty-fourth street, in this city, and the police are looking for William Bartholin, a young mechanic who was with her at the time of her disappearance. The case is shrouded in mystery, but the police are firmly of the opinion that the girl was murdered by Bartholin and that he also murdered his own mother, Mrs. Anna Bartholin, who mysteriously disappeared three weeks before the Mitchell girl went away with the young man.

Two Killings in Choctaw Nation.

Paris, Tex., Aug. 9.—A killing occurred at Garvin, I. T., Wednesday during the Choctaw election. The name of the victim, who was a half-breed, was not learned. The day before the election a young Choctaw named Walker, 18 years old, was found dead near Kullytukio with two bullet holes in him. The killing is supposed to have grown out of the campaign.

Negro Shot from Ambush.

Hearne, Tex., Aug. 9.—While Aey Langster, a negro employed on the West Brook plantation near town, was going from his home to a neighbor's he was fired on from ambush, receiving the contents of a double-barrel shotgun loaded with birdshot. The wound is not thought to be serious.

CHOCTAW ELECTION.

Returns Coming in Indicate That McCurtain Will Succeed Himself.

South McAlester, I. T., Aug. 9.—Returns from Red River, Cedar, Boktoko, Sugarloaf and Sans Bois counties radically altered the apparent result of the Choctaw election. The McCurtain forces are jubilant, and claim his election by 253 majority.

Red River county reports a McCurtain majority of 186, Cedar county 75, Sugarloaf 172, Boktoko 73 and Sans Bois 242. Wolf, Eagle and Jacksford counties have not been heard from, and they have no telegraph communications, but their total vote if given to Hunter would not wipe out McCurtain's majority according to his partisans' figures.

T. H. Hunter, the rival candidate, has returned to his home in Caddo, but his associate on the Choctaw townsites commission received a message from him, in which he claimed his election by 135 majority.

FRIAR LAND SALES.

Nothing Known at Manila Beyond Some Transfers in Luzon.

Manila, Aug. 9.—Nothing is known here of the reported sale of the lands of the friars to an American syndicate and the statement that such a sale has been made is officially discredited.

The Dominicans transferred much of their estates in the island of Luzon to the Philippines Sugar and Development company in which certain Americans are interested, in January, 1901. The government has questioned the legality of this transfer and the matter is now pending before the courts. Some property belonging to other religious orders here is nominally outside of the control of the church and judicial action will probably be necessary before the government purchases the friar lands. That there have been recent transfers of friar property is doubted. The status of the holdings of the friars is not believed to have changed since Gov. Taft left the Philippines for Washington last December.

ROBERTS AND WHEELER.

They Were Center of Attraction at New Anglo-American Pilgrim's Club.

London, Aug. 9.—Earl Roberts, commander-in-chief of the British forces, and General Joseph Wheeler of the United States, sat together Friday night at the first banquet of the new Anglo-American Pilgrim's club, which was given at the Carlton hotel. Lord Kinnaird presided at the banquet, and the guests included Joseph M. Choate, United States ambassador; Lord Kelvin, Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, H. Clay Evans, consul general of the United States; former Attorney General Griggs, General J. H. Wilson, United States army, and Josiah Quincy.

After toasts had been drunk to King Edward and President Roosevelt, General Wheeler, in an eulogistic speech, proposed Earl Roberts as honorary president of the club. Earl Roberts, replying to the American general, said he hoped some day his responsibilities, which appeared to increase with the advance of years, would permit him to visit the United States, which country of all others he most desired to see.

Killed His Father's Slayer.

Nacogdoches, Tex., Aug. 9.—Fourteen years ago a negro named George Burk killed a white man named Tom Murphy, a son-in-law of Col. A. P. Orton, a distinguished San Jacinto veteran. This was in San Augustine county, where the parties all resided. The negro was tried and acquitted by a white jury and at once moved here and has lived here ever since. Thursday evening young Sandy Murphy, son of the man killed, now 23 years old, was in town and for the first time since his father's death saw the negro, George Burk, who was in a store trading near the postoffice. The negro was shot through the breast and only spoke the words, "Don't shoot me any more," then fell over and died in a few minutes. Murphy surrendered and gave bond.

Cotton Killed by Flood.

Terrell, Tex., Aug. 9.—Reports received in this city from the Sabine river bottom, in the northern portion of this county, state that all the cotton that was overflooded has died, and there is now emanating from the overflooded districts a terrible stench caused by the dead cotton plant and the decaying carcasses of many animals that were drowned by the flood. At Hetty, a small station on the Texas Midland railroad ten miles north of here, there is 800 acres of cotton, known as the D. B. Wilson farm, which has been worked by state convicts this year

Hillsboro, Tex., Aug. 9.—The motion to dissolve the Hill county local option injunction will be heard at Cleburne by Judge Poindexter on Aug. 16. A Navasota special says Congressman Ball addressed a large audience there Friday upon the proposition to levee the Brazos. He said little ~~half~~ could be expected from the national government further than to make the river navigable. He suggested a conference of interested parties in an effort to secure aid from the state. A committee was appointed to confer with interested parties in the overflowed district, particularly, by mail. This leaves the matter up to the planters and business men along the river, and the Eagle believes they are in a humor to do something.

Some earthquake shocks have recently visited the Pacific coast. Los Animas, California, is in ruins and St. Louis Obispo has had a terrible shaking up. In some places gaping, and seeming bottomless fissures have appeared and hills several hundred feet high where there were no hills before. The people are crazy with terror and many have fled from their homes and are dwelling in the distant solitudes. At one place seventy distinct shocks occurred in one day, and all over Santa Barbara county the destruction has been severe.—Farm and Ranch.

Don't it make you weary to hear a gang sitting around discussing a town and making dire predictions for its future? A town is what its people make of it. If they sit around idle and say it's dead, it's going to be that way, but if they talk good times and go out and get to work it's a live town. Did it ever occur to you?—Huntsville Post.

The Huntsville Post, J. A. Palmer's paper, comes to hand this week with thirty six columns—six pages—of well written, attractive advertisements by the Huntsville merchants advertising Huntsville's advantages as a trading point.

COL. PETERS FAVORS BRYAN

As a Meeting Place to Consider Plans to Levee The Brazos.

Col. E. S. Peters, of Calvert, president of the Texas Cotton Growers' association, was in the city yesterday and expressed strong interest in the movement to levee the Brazos river to prevent flood damage. Col. Peters said a meeting of interested parties should be held without delay and he would like to see it called to meet in Bryan because this city is centrally located and accessible from all points. People would come for a hundred miles or more up and down the river and a great deal of good could be accomplished. Bryan would like to have the meeting, and we hope the business league will go to work on Col. Peters' suggestion and secure it.

Speaking About Advertising.

The writer heard a business man complain many times about people in his own town taking their money to a city many miles away and purchasing goods. His complaint was just, but he was somewhat at fault himself. The big city papers circulated in his town and were full of attractive page ads showing off goods of the same kind he sold and quoting prices. The prices, when actually compared with those of the home merchant, for same quality of goods, offered no advantage, but the city merchant advertised and the home merchant did not, although he had a good home paper, and the conclusion drawn by many people was that the city man who made such a stir about his goods and prices, had something unusually attractive to offer and they went to see, and while there they bought.

EDWARD IS CROWNED

The Ceremony of Placing the Crown Upon His Head.

GREAT CROWD THERE

The King stood the Ceremony Well Despite His Recent Illness—Aged Archbishop Collapsed During the Long Ceremony.

London, Aug. 9.—A brilliant sunrise promised perfect weather for coronation day, but long before the ceremonies commenced threatening clouds gathered, and early arrivals on the route of the procession came provided against contingencies.

Though earlier crowds were in no wise as large as had been generally anticipated, many enthusiasts with camp stools and ample supplies of provender had spent the night on the best coigns of vantage that could be secured and were in the same positions at 6 o'clock this morning. At that hour troops began to take up their allotted stations, and policemen lined the route of the procession from Buckingham palace to Westminster abbey. Up to 7 o'clock there were certainly more police than sightseers visible, but after that time there was a rapid increase in the number of spectators, suburban trains and tramcars emptying thousands of people every few minutes into the stations adjacent to the procession's route.

East End London residents also flocked westward in such numbers that the streets east of Temple Bar became oppressively silent and deserted.

Most of the best positions along the route of the procession were thickly crowded by 8 o'clock, and spectators were furnished with plenty of diversion by the marching and counter-marching of troops, headed by bands and quickly passing state coaches, private carriages and automobiles.

Buckingham palace naturally was one of the principal centers of interest, as it was the starting point of the great pageant. Crowds assembled there in immense numbers, and the first hearty cheer of the day went up when the news was circulated that King Edward was in the best of health and well equipped to undergo the fatigue of the day.

By 9:30 the scene in the vicinity of the palace and Mall was extremely animated. The roof of the palace and those of all surrounding buildings were crowded with spectators, and constantly arriving members of the royal family with their suites and the appearance of other participants in the procession enlisted cheers varying in degree of enthusiasm according to the popularity of the personages recognized by the people.

Almost as animated was the scene in the vicinity of Westminster Abbey, where bands of music stationed about the building relieved the tedium of early waiting, and soon after the doors were opened state coaches, carriages and automobiles rattled up in ceaseless line, the rich apparel of the occupants eliciting hearty approval, which

however, was surpassed by the reception accorded to the men of the naval brigade as they marched past at a swinging pace to take up that favored position of guarding the route near the abbey.

Colonial premiers and privy councillors were warmly welcomed, Pijians in petticoats were the center of much interest, and the red Indian chief, in his native costume, feathers and blanket, decorated with the customary mirrors, caused most lively amusement.

CRUELTY TO SAILORS.

They Are Made to Eat Flesh of a Cow Dying from Disease.

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 9.—Deputy Sheriff Walker of Port Tampa came up to the city, having in charge fourteen sailors from the crew of the Spanish tramp steamer Urgulla. The ship is from an European port and the men came up to the city for the purpose of entering a complaint with the Spanish consul regarding the treatment they had received at the hands of the captain and other officers of the ship during the voyage.

They accuse the officers of the ship with inhuman treatment, claiming that some of them had been compelled to work forty-eight hours without anything to eat. They also stated that during the voyage one of the cows on the ship died, and that the animal had been dressed and given them to eat, and from eating the flesh of the animal several of their number had been made violently ill.

GENERAL MEYER DEAD.

The Boer General Dies Suddenly from His Ailment at Brussels.

Brussels, Aug. 9.—The Petit Bleu announces the sudden death of General Lucas Meyer of heart disease. General Meyer was attacked several times with this illness during the war in South Africa.

General Meyer was commander of the Orange Free State forces in the Boer war. After the conclusion of peace he left South Africa for London, where he was entertained in British official circles. General Meyer, accompanied by his wife, left London a few days ago for Dresden. This step was taken upon the advice of his physicians. On his way to Germany he stopped in Holland to see former President Kruger of the Transvaal.

Poisoned by the Water.

Waco, Tex., Aug. 9.—The recent freshet in the Brazos river heaped a mass of driftwood and brush against the piers of the Cotton Belt bridge, which gave much trouble in removing. Dave Luze, one of the workmen employed in the task, fell into the river, which near the pier is ten feet deep. Before he was dragged out by his brother workmen he swallowed a copious quantity of the deep-red water, which is thick with salt and heavily charged with soluble mineral substances, the result being that he is very ill. The case is a peculiar one. Mr. Luze has been sent to Tyler to be treated in the Cotton Belt hospital.

Would Force the Whites.

Atlanta, Aug. 9.—At the negro congress Friday B. Y. Jones of New Orleans declared that the time had come when it was not for the white man to decide the policy of this country, but for the negro. "If the white man won't help us, who will make him? It is no longer for the white man to say. It is for the negro to say, and say he will. If the white man does not extend to us the helping hand we will force him to it." Jones also declared in bitter terms that the negro in the south was not given a fair chance, and that he must make for himself his position among the people.

Funston Ill Again.

Denver, Aug. 9.—Brigadier General Frederick Funston, commander of the department of the Colorado, is confined to his home by illness, having undergone an operation for fistula. His condition is not at all alarming, and his friends expect he will recover quickly. The general's present illness does not result from the attack of appendicitis for which an operation was successfully performed at Kansas City before he came to Colorado.

Six Inches of Rain.

Channing, Tex., Aug. 9.—This place was visited by one of the heaviest rains ever seen in the Panhandle country. It was about a six-inch fall. Two washouts were reported Friday on the Fort Worth and Denver road along the Canadian river.

Suicide at Louisville.

Louisville, Aug. 9.—Pearce Bodley, one of the best known real estate and business men in Louisville, committed suicide here by shooting himself in the head at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary McHenry, on Camp street, in this city. Ill health the cause.

GRECIAN LEGEND

When the Greeks undertook the Trojan war, Ulysses, one of the most renowned of the Greek heroes, the king of Ithica (one of the small Ionian isles) and the husband of the exemplary PENELOPE, after long declining to join the alliance, at last consented, and embarked his small, but picked band, set sail for the Phrygian shores. During the war he acted a prominent part, and after the fall of the city of Troy, he embarked on board his small fleet with his followers to return to his wife and kingdom. But adverse winds and fearful storms made him the sport of winds and waves, and his efforts were fruitless for a long period. After an absence, however, of thirty years, he regained his island home, found his faithful, still beautiful

PENELOPE

This name has been given a townsite in Hill County, 25 miles north of Waco, on the Fort Worth Division of the International & Great Northern Railroad, in the famous black land country on the rolling prairie, and as CON-STANCY was the charm of its namesake, there is little speculation that the growth of the new I. & G. N. town will be constant and that it will soon become a beautiful little city.

BARBECUE TOWN LOT SALE

Penelope, Thursday, August 14th,

By the SMITH LAND & IMPROVEMENT COMPANY.

Everybody knows that when a new railroad station is opened in the Black Land Belt it means a town and a GOOD ONE, especially if it is an International & Great Northern town. The new I. & G. N. town of Mart, on the Fort Worth Division, having grown from a store, farm house and cotton gin to a bustling town of 1,500 inhabitants within a year, is a case in point.

LERROY, 15 miles north of Waco, in McLennan County, the new I. & G. N. station which was opened July 21, is being settled rapidly. There was a very large sale of town lots made there on the opening day and they continue to go.

PENELOPE, 25 miles north of Waco, 10 miles north of Leroy, 8 1/2 miles from Mt. Calm, 10 miles from West, 10 miles from Hillsboro, and one mile from Postoffice Zeeve, on the Fort Worth Division of the International & Great Northern Railroad, the new station to be opened Thursday, August 14, is in the midst of as fine a black land section as there is in the world. The distance being sufficient from all other towns and trade centers to make it one of the finest towns in that section, and a splendid opportunity is now afforded the investor in this town lot sale. CENTRAL TEXAS FAIR, BRYAN, TEXAS.

OCTOBER 14, 15, 16 & 17.

For Catalogue, Address, PAUL BRADLEY, Sect'y.

As the hour appointed for the departure of the royal procession approached, the excitement about Buckingham palace was most marked. Punctual to the time the advance guard of the royal cavalcade issued from the archway, horses of troopers curvetting nervously as they faced the wall of humanity that cheered their coming; shortly afterwards came the prince and princess of Wales' procession, and finally, within a few minutes, their majesties' state coach appeared at the gateway and the king and queen smiled and bowed in response to the mighty roar of cheers that dwarfed all previous welcomes.

The scene in the vicinity was remarkable. On the roof of the palace were perched a number of fashionably dressed ladies, members of the household, and cheers, with fluttering of handkerchiefs, as the king and queen entered the royal coach, gave the signal for deafening plaudits of the populace which greeted their majesties as they emerged from the gates.

The ovation was taken up by the crowds which thronged the Mall, and was repeatedly acknowledged by the occupants of the state coach. The king looked pale and rather fine drawn, and was by no means as brown and robust as previous reports had led one to expect, and while bowing from side to side he did so with gravity very unusual to him.

He seemed to sit rather far back in the carriage and moved his body very little. His curious crimson robes and cap of maintenance, which was simply a band of ermine with crimson velvet top, gave him an unusual appearance. The queen beside him was radiant. She never looked better. The cheers which greeted the pair were loud and unmistakably genuine, and very different from the perfunctory applause which usually greets the appearance of members of the royal family.

The three processions to the abbey were carried out according to program, and the only striking features of the first two were the gorgeous state carriages and beautiful trappings and horses.

The procession was a continued triumph, and reached the climax on arrival at the abbey, where there was a scene of unparalleled enthusiasm which did not cease until their majesties disappeared in the annex.

In Westminster Abbey the doors of the edifice scarcely opened and gold sticks and ushers had barely found their stations before the seats began to fill. Peers and peeresses swept up. Nave, their scarlet and ermine making a vivid contrast with the deep blue of the carpet.

As they arrived before the thrones they separated, the peers going to the right and the peeresses to the left. Even when practically empty the abbey presented an interesting, picturesque effect, the oddest feature of which consisted in every seat being practically covered by a large white official program, in the interior of which was placed a small, deep red book of the service.

By 10 o'clock the interior of the abbey presented a blaze of color. Along the nave, which was lined by grenadiers, every chair was taken up by high offices of the army and navy and in equally handsome equipment. In stalls with the other ambassadors were United States Ambassador Joseph H. Choate and Mrs. Choate and many of officials.

The ceremonies commenced with the reconsecration of the regalia. The procession of the clergy with regalia then preceded from the altar to the annex, all present standing up and the choir singing "O, God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Preceding the regalia came the boys of Westminster abbey, followed by the children of the Chapel Royal and the choir in royal uniforms. The duke of Canaught took a place beside the Prince of Wales in the abbey, as the procession entered, bowing as he passed the prince. Archbishop of Canterbury took a seat in front of the coronation chair and the earl of Halsbury, lord high chancellor, seated himself by his side.

Suddenly "Vivat Alexandra" was shouted by the boys of Westminster abbey, and the queen, walking slowly to the left of the throne, gained her chair.

Two or three minutes later a hoarse cry from the Westminster boys of "Vivat Rex Edward," with blasts from trumpets, and King Edward appeared and walked to his chair in front of the throne, bowing to the queen as he passed, and knelt in prayer. After removing the somewhat unbecoming cap, his majesty stood up and archbishop of Canterbury, in a trembling voice, read the recognition, beginning:

"Sirs, I here present unto you, King Edward, undoubted king of this realm." Then there was a hoarse shout and blending of the choir and the people, women and men, in a cry: "God Save King Edward." Several times this was repeated and the abbey rang with loud fanfares.

Again the king and queen knelt and the archbishop of Canterbury walked to the altar and commenced communion. The administration of the oath followed.

Standing before the king's chair, the archbishop remarked, "Sir, is your majesty willing to take the oath?" The king answered in a firm, strong tone: "I am willing." Then the inkstand was brought and the king signed the oath. He did not advance to the altar, but sat in the chair he had occupied since the service began.

While the choir sang "Come, Holy Ghost, Our Souls Inspire," the king remained seated and the queen stood up. After the archbishop's anointing prayer, the gold canopy was brought over the king's chair and his majesty divested himself of his outer robe and then walked to the altar chair while the choir sang "Seadoak's" anthem.

The anointing ceremony was scarcely seen owing to the canopy. After the prayer the king donned the colobium, sidonis, then resumed his seat and the archbishop of Canterbury read the prayers and delivered the sword to the king.

Later the archbishop had a similar difficulty owing to the near-sightedness in placing the crown on the king's head. In fact, the choir started "God Save the King" while the archbishop was still striving to place the crown on the king's head, and a great shout went up, and electric lights were turned on.

As the acclamations died away the clanging of joy bells, noise of guns and shouting of the people outside penetrated into the abbey where the king still sat motionless, the dazzling crown on his head and the scepter held firmly in his hand. After singing "Be Strong and Play the Man," and the Bible having been presented, the king advanced and knelt while he received the benediction.

He then walked to the great throne, where he stood on the dias for the first time, surrounded by nobles. Having placed the king on the new throne, the archbishop knelt and paid homage, the aged prelate scarcely being able to rise until the king assisted him and himself raised the archbishop's hands from the steps of the throne. The archbishop, who seemed to be in a faint, had practically to be carried to the altar. The incident created considerable excitement and several prelates rushed forward to help the prelate.

The next person to pay homage to his majesty was the prince of Wales who knelt until King Edward held out his hands, which he kissed after touching the crown as a sign of fealty.

The prince of Wales then started to return to his seat, when King Edward drew him back and put his arms around him and kissed him. After this the king once more gave the prince his hand, this time to shake, and the hearty vigor of King Edward's grasp showed his hand at any rate had not lost its strength.

All the nobles then took the oath of allegiance, and the queen was crowned by the archbishop of York.

The king and queen then walked to the altar and received communion. The services concluded with singing the "Te Deum." Their majesties then left the abbey and returned to the palace amid the plaudits of the multitude.

It is announced the king bore the strain without harmful effect.
